

Virtual Learning Tips

Using video to engage students

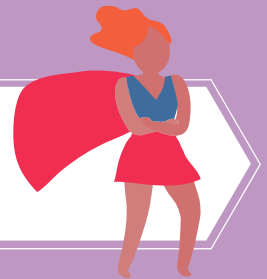

Start the year with fun video assignments to help students get acquainted with you and with each other. Create videos yourself to model what you're looking for and help make a personal connection with students.

Students can share private YouTube videos with you. Or try Flipgrid to create a message board for sharing videos with the whole class.

Video prompt ideas

If you could have a superpower, what would it be and why?

If you could be any animal, what would it be and why?

Share a fun fact about yourself that others may not know.

Share the most boring (or surprising) fact you can find. (Then have the students rank the videos and choose a winner!)

If you could live anywhere in the world, where would you live and why?
